Firm Profile

Top Entertainment PR Firm in Los Angeles for Sale.

Long standing and reputable entertainment related Los Angeles-based public relations boutique for sale.

This is a great and rare opportunity for you to become an owner of a well established public relations and communications firm – celebrating three decades of representing some of the biggest names in the entertainment and related industries.

Specializing in entertainment public relations, publicity & media relations and marketing communication for corporate, consumer and entertainment clients. Expertise includes music, live concert tours, premieres, openings, restaurants, personalities and more.

Founded in 1986, you will have access to “A list” clients and the inside track to media across the nation and around the globe. What would take a newcomer years to establish with connections and reputation can be yours overnight. You will have access to the movers, shakers and industry/media insiders. Buying into experience and knowledge is key to your successful future in public relations.

You will be able to hit the ground running, and have the option of the current founder remaining on board or act as a consultant in a transition that will help guide you to future success.

Do not miss this rare opportunity. If you always wanted to associate with celebrities and the entertainment industry, and NOT have to start out in the mail room or as an intern - this is your once in a lifetime chance!
